350 STUDENTS TO PERFORM IN KNOXVILLE SYMPHONY YOUTH ORCHESTRAS' SPRING CONCERT SUNDAY, APRIL 29

Knoxville, TN – April 24, 2018 – The Knoxville Symphony Youth Orchestra (KSYO) will conclude its 44th season with a FREE Spring Concert on Sunday, April 29 at 7:00 p.m. at the Tennessee Theatre. Six youth orchestras will perform, including the top Youth Orchestra conducted by KSO Resident Conductor James Fellenbaum. This concert, sponsored by First Tennessee Foundation, is free and open to the public; no tickets are required. This is an excellent photo and video opportunity.

This FREE concert will feature performances from six orchestras: Overture and Preludium combined, Philharmonia, Sinfonia, Youth Chamber Orchestra and the Youth Orchestra. Students range in experience level from beginner to 10+ years, and they will perform music of Mozart, Tchaikovsky, plus music from the Appalachian region. Several students will perform Vivaldi's Concerto for Four Solo Violins and String Orchestra in B minor. The 40 graduating high school seniors will be recognized at this concert.

When: Monday, April 29, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.

Where: Tennessee Theatre, 604 S. Gay St.

About: The Knoxville Symphony Youth Orchestra is currently celebrating its 44th season. Approximately 350 students were selected by an audition process in August. In addition to weekly rehearsals, the students will perform four concerts throughout the 2017-2018 season. All four performances take place at the Tennessee Theatre and are FREE and open to the public.
